

B. G. Bikers On The Road . . .

Battle Ground's bicentennial bikers went "over the top" this week as they pedaled their way across the Continental Divide. The bikers commented that going over "Andy Hansen's Hill" ten times in one workout at home before the trip was more exhausting than any of the days on the road so far.

There were few "towns" in northern Wyoming, even tho the map showed stops. The group camped out on these evenings.

The beautiful scenery of the Rockies is being enjoyed in Idaho, Wyoming and Colorado and elk have been seen in the roadway.

While in Boise earlier, the kids were treated to a royal tour of the capitol of Idaho.

One question often asked of parents is "How do the kids take baths?" They have been staying at churches most of the time and the members make arrangements for local school shower rooms to be opened up for them. One church even had shower facilities of its own. The kids are able to use church kitchen facilities for their evening meal at most stops also.

What makes a bike troop happy? A record of 3 days with no flat tires!

The group called from Rawlins, Wyoming, Tuesday night and are scheduled to be in Colorado the rest of this week.

Parents and friends are able to write to the bikers by sending letters to pre-determined post offices. Their next pick-up point will be at Witchita, Kansas, July 8th. Anyone wishing to drop them a line, may write:
